

Make it clear. Make it fast.

Issue complete, legible and accurate citations in minutes.

For many law enforcement agencies, managing and distributing citations is an outdated and inefficient paper-based process that requires time they may not have. Frequently, these citations are not only time-consuming, but submitted with errors and are missing information.

Now you can address these common problems and enable your officers to issue complete, legible and accurate citations in minutes with LexisNexis® eCitation.

Improve officer safety with faster citations

Officers are able to gather vital information and enter data on the fly with LexisNexis eCitation. This eliminates excess time spent on-scene manually recording details so the citation process can be:

- Quick - simply enter the license plate or driver's license of the violator and our system auto-populates the form from your National Crime Information Center (NCIC) query.
- Efficient—increase officer productivity and reduce errors.
- Accurate—validate data entered according to your state's rules and guidelines, resulting in fewer errors and disqualified citations.
- Safe—determine if the involved driver or vehicle is associated with NCIC or Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) warnings using voice-prompt technology. Information received from NCIC/International Justice and Public Safety Network (Nlets) is read back, enabling officers to maintain visual contact on the offender and road.

Empower administrators with greater efficiencies

Administrators have access to powerful tools that help them:

- Obtain complete, legible reports, simplifying the review process.
- Submit citations to the court electronically (where permissible).
- Export data to your records management systems (RMS).
- Reprint citations quickly and conveniently at a later time using the built-in document management system.
