

From Data to Action:

Accurint® Public Safety Marketplace in Focus

Today’s law enforcement agencies face challenges greater than ever before. Law enforcement agencies face a flood of data from diverse sources, making it harder to act quickly and effectively. Combined with rising crime rates, fewer resources, digital criminals operating in the shadows, and victims waiting for answers that do not come fast enough, law enforcement is increasingly being asked to do more with less. But, how?

Turning Data into Actionable Intelligence

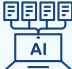

Building on over twenty-five years of experience building solutions for law enforcement, LexisNexis® Risk Solutions is taking investigations further by integrating advanced law enforcement tools into a single, powerful ecosystem that can help agencies do what they do best: keep communities safe. Now agencies can replace multiple systems with one seamless interface that includes identity data, criminal databases, device geolocation and analysis, and artificial intelligence powered analytics.
