

LexisNexis® Law Enforcement Automated Personnel System™

Streamline your training program while maintaining accountability.

Maintaining a traditional paper-based Field Training Officer (FTO) program, complete with unwieldy three-ring binders and file cabinets of forms, is a burdensome and inefficient endeavor. Furthermore, ensuring accountability, agency compliance and program success is challenging without analytics or reporting capabilities.

An automated, streamlined solution

The LexisNexis® Law Enforcement Automated Personnel System™ is a personnel management and training solution designed to streamline outdated internal training and employee processes.

Consisting of a fully-automated field training component and employee training compliance system, this efficient solution helps ensure the success of getting a new officer on board and maintaining ongoing training compliance.

Web-based and accessible on any internet-enabled device, the completely paperless Law Enforcement Automated Personnel System can be used for any agency position (dispatch, volunteers, etc.) that requires documented training. It can even help you track daily activity through the intuitive CAD interface.

The innovative features of the Law Enforcement Automated Personnel System deliver critical benefits for FTO and personnel management:

Gain a force multiplier — Do more with less, with automated and streamlined processes and an intuitive CAD user interface.

Mitigate risk — Mitigate risk associated with negligent retention and wrongful termination, and ensure compliance with digital documentation, archived record retrieval, administrator notifications, reports and analytics.

Ensure success — Help trainees and trainers stay on-task, and enable administrators to monitor trainee progress with built-in notifications, analytical tools and more.

Enjoy versatility — Configure the program to collect information from your agency's forms, scoring criteria, tests and other documents— no need to overhaul your existing FTO program.

“ This is a really good system, very user friendly...Thank you for a great product and exceptional customer service. ”
