

Quality provider data opens the door to healthier business operations

Get access to the richest,
most reliable source
of healthcare provider
information available.

Data quality drives operational effectiveness

Provider information is constantly changing. In fact, our data scientists have found that:

 2.4% of all providers change addresses or other contact information every month¹

 30% change their hospital or practice-group affiliations every year¹

 5% change their license status every year¹

 35% of provider listings contain errors¹

Keeping up can be a daunting task for healthcare organizations. In order to maintain the integrity of workflows and processes like claims processing, network management, compliance, out-of-network provider screening and review, credentialing and outreach, you need access to reliable and comprehensive provider information in real time.

As part of the LexisNexis® Provider Data Intelligence Suite, LexisNexis offers Provider Data Validation. This solution gives customers real-time access to the provider information needed with its powerful, easy-to-use Web search engine.

Whether you are researching new providers or assisting with credentialing and provider maintenance, LexisNexis Provider Data Validation is invaluable.
