Minimize risk with reliable sources and comprehensive coverage

LexisNexis employs a rigorous investigative process to provide robust databases of high-risk individuals and entities that are commercially available. The process includes a thorough sequence of research, vetting and data compilation.

Data compilation. Our investigative teams mine media channels, websites and official records worldwide to compile data on individuals and organizations linked to high-risk activities. LexisNexis adds or updates many thousands of profiles every month.

Data validation. Once compiled, the teams analyze the results to produce a profile. Each profile is carefully constructed to ensure that the information is complete.

Profile summary. Each profile contains unique identifiers such as dates of birth and passport numbers. In addition, each profile has a complete relationship web, identifying and linking the entities, family members and business associates.

Data updates. Once validated, profiles are routinely updated as soon as there is a change; whether it's the addition of a new unique identifier (Date of Birth, Passport, National ID) or the addition of a new relationship to the profile.

Database segments. The profile contents are compiled into a series of database segments, which can be tailored according to your business's needs. These include:

- Sanctions and Enforcements: Aggregates information from the most important sanction lists (OFAC, EU, UN, BOE, FBI, Bureau of Industry and Security, etc.) worldwide, grouping them into one category. In addition, information received from enforcement lists and court filings worldwide, such as the FDA, U.S. HHS, UK FSA, SEC and more.
- Politically Exposed Persons: Includes profiles of the largest database of Politically Exposed Persons (PEPs), as well as those of their family members.
- Adverse Media: An extensive proprietary database of profiles that have been linked to illicit activities from over 35,000 news sources worldwide.
- State Owned Enterprises: A proprietary list of government-owned and government-linked corporations and businesses.
