Benefits of LexisNexis Carrier Discovery:

- Verify current coverage
- Improve claims outcomes
- Set reserves more accurately
- Reduce cycle times
- Streamline call center scripting
- Gain insight into uninsured motorist claims
- Identify third-party insurance coverage and uncover instances of duplicate coverage
- Obtain vehicle registration information

Help make the adjusting process more informative and efficient

LexisNexis Carrier Discovery provides policy data on private passenger auto policies through a name and address or VIN search. The service can be deployed at various points throughout the claims process. When deployed at first notice of loss, it can assist with call center scripting and in making the adjusting process more informative and efficient through the life of the claim. From a subrogation standpoint, LexisNexis Carrier Discovery can provide significant benefit to you in identifying the insurance carrier of an at-fault party in what may have originally been opened as an uninsured motorist claim.

Expose fraud indicators

While most claims are legitimate, some may be fraudulent. Using LexisNexis Carrier Discovery data, you can address certain fraud indicators. An example is an individual listing the same vehicles on policies from two different carriers. With LexisNexis Carrier Discovery, you can determine whether a claimant has multiple policies under different names. This information can help you make a decision about the legitimacy of a claim.
