

Uncover Risks and Accelerate Decisions with Access to More Complete Commercial Auto Policy History Data

Whether it's undisclosed drivers or vehicles, a lapse in coverage history or other gaps in current policy details, you may be missing the critical insights you need to assess risk with more confidence when underwriting new business. LexisNexis® Current Carrier® Commercial helps to fill gaps by providing timely access to more complete commercial auto policy information that would otherwise be difficult or impossible to find — and it inserts that information right into your workflow.

Current Carrier Commercial helps you:

Identify potentially undisclosed drivers and vehicles at point of quote

Confirm prior coverage levels and get proof of prior insurance

Refine underwriting and tiering based on tenure with the prior carrier

Pinpoint lapses in coverage

Gather details about limits and coverages that are missing or otherwise unknown

Proprietary data for better decision-making

Current Carrier Commercial is a contributory database that aggregates details about a prior policy, policyholder, vehicle and drivers. Participating carriers share their commercial auto policy history details and can tap into the collective industry insights through LexisNexis® C.L.U.E. Commercial or LexisNexis® Commercial Auto Data Prefill. This expanded access to more complete data helps enhance operational efficiencies and supports profitability goals.

The Current Carrier Commercial contributory database gives you access to:

Key benefits

- Segment and price risks more effectively to foster growth, reduce costs and deliver superior customer service
- Enhance quoting and underwriting efficiency by refining and accelerating risk assessment processes
- Scale and innovate more quickly with easy access to unique tools and to a robust data repository
- Drive innovation with access to comprehensive data to support analytics and product development initiatives
