Consumer demand is changing. More non-traditional competitors are entering the market. Regulatory scrutiny is growing. These demands combined with unprecedented economic shifts create an increasing need for risk managers to obtain a more complete view of the consumer.

New insights are needed to improve decisions across the credit spectrum. Without a more robust picture, lenders may miss opportunities to grow their portfolio.

LexisNexis® RiskView™ Optics and RiskView™ Spectrum are industry-leading, three-digit alternative credit scores that combine multiple dimensions of credit data providing powerful predictive insights that take credit risk scoring to new levels of performance.

Transform credit risk assessment at every stage of the customer lifecycle, from pre-screen marketing to origination and portfolio management.

Pre-Screen Marketing
Expand your addressable market with unique insights that help you better understand new prospects and their creditworthiness.

Account Opening/Origination
Fine-tune credit assessment to increase approvals, extend more competitive offers and improve portfolio profitability with enhanced perspective on credit risk.

Portfolio Management
Actively manage customer relationships to monitor for evolving risk indicators and identify new opportunity for growth or risk management.
